

Kildare County Childcare Committee. Penhire wrote the committee's step-by-step guide to setting up childcare services - subsequently used by many of Ireland's county childcare committees. We also author the KCCC seasonal newsletter and have produced numerous other materials for them.

Text fragment:

Is this for you?

Childcare is a very rewarding, yet very challenging profession. If you are considering setting up a childcare facility of any kind you need to think carefully about your reasons and about how suited you are to provide this very unique service.

Dealing with children during the most formative years of their lives requires knowledge and understanding of a child's individual holistic development.

Your decision on whether to contribute to the much-needed supply of childcare services in County Kildare should not be a purely commercial one. Of course, this enterprise needs to be sustainable and ideally generate profits for you to enjoy, but because this enterprise involves individuals with very particular needs, the service aspect of the operation needs to come first.
